Early Childhood Education Employers:

Support your team's health insurance and save

If you're a licensed Early Childhood center, there are new cost-saving opportunities available to help you provide health insurance to your employees. Access Health CT BusinessPlus can offer you flexible benefit options that allow your employees to take advantage of the new Early Childhood Educators Health Insurance Subsidy. You may also be able to get a tax credit for your business.

Two options to fit your needs

Individual Coverage Health Reimbursement Arrangement (ICHRA)

With an Individual Coverage Health Reimbursement Arrangement (ICHRA) you provide a set allowance your employees can use to purchase a health plan through Access Health CT. You can determine your contribution amount by employee type (like full-time, part-time, salaried, hourly, etc.) Your employees can then use your contribution and their state subsidy to purchase the health plan that works best for them.

If your business has fewer than 50 employees, you may be eligible for a State tax credit for setting up an ICHRA through Access Health CT BusinessPlus. You may be able to get up to $1,000 per employee in tax credits for the first two years you provide your employees with an ICHRA. Tax credits are limited and offered on a first-come, first-served basis.

Small Group Health Plans

Access Health CT BusinessPlus can offer you a more traditional employer-sponsored insurance plan. Your company pays a portion of the premium costs and so do your employees. Your employees can apply their state Early Childhood Educators subsidy to their portion of the premium.

Access to one easy to use platform

With both small group health plans and ICHRA, you'll have access to the BusinessPlus platform. This streamlined, all-in-one system makes enrollment and benefit management easier.

The bottom line

Make your business attractive to employees and help your team take advantage of a new state subsidy just for Early Childhood Educators and employees.

Adding health insurance to your compensation package helps your business stand out for current and prospective employees. Plus, your employees will get extra cost savings thanks to the new Early Childhood Educators subsidy.
